

GREEN EYED MONSTER

Razor Indigo

Description of the book's premise:

In this world, though few people know it, magic does exist. That does not mean that all the myths and legends are true, but some are. One type of magic that is real is the magic of true love. But even true love sometimes needs some help. Sometimes people's envy and self image is so powerful that they are blind to love. For those people there is the Green Eyed Monster necklace: The necklace has a thin, but strong, silver chain and a marquis cut green stone set sideways in an oval of white diamond chips. There are dark chips around the inner setting radiating outward in a long and extremely thin sunburst pattern. At a distance the necklace looks like a green eye with black eyelashes. It is called the lovers necklace because it is always given to the love of someone's life (even though people usually do not know it). The necklace is rumored to have been owned by Napoleon and Josephine, Queen Victoria and Albert, Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall and many more. The necklace always finds its way into the hands of the people when they are truly single, but within days they end up giving it to the love of their life. It is
